Millions Attend Good Friday Services Today

Protestants and Roman Catholics Commemorate Christ's Crucifixion

WASHINGTON (UP)—The longest and most solemn worship service of Christian liturgy drew millions of Americans to church today.

Protestant and Roman Catholic churches across the nation scheduled three-hour services, starting at noon, to commemorate the Crucifixion of Christ. The New Testament gospels record that Jesus hung on the cross from noon until 3 p. m. on the first Good Friday, 1924 years ago.

Many business and industrial firms, responding to a personal request by President Eisenhower, released from work all employes who desired to attend the services.

Victory Over Death

Attendance at Good Friday services has been growing steadily in recent years in both Protestant and Catholic churches. The three-hour observance now draws congregations which are exceeded only by those of Christmas and Easter.

Joy is the keynote of Easter services, at which the church celebrates the Resurrection of Christ with its message of hope for all men for ultimate victory over death. The good news that "He is risen!" is proclaimed by altars bedecked with flowers, by choirs singing the alleluia anthems, by worshipers turned out in their brightest spring finery.

Good Friday is the day on which the church remembers that mankind's release from sin and death which Easter betokens was purchased at a price. By ancient tradition, the altar is bare in mourning and the cross is shrouded in black. The worship service customarily is built around "meditations," or short sermons, on the "seven last words" which Christ spoke from the cross.

A Hopeful Sign

Some churchmen regard the growing attendance at Good Friday services as a hopeful sign that America's religious revival is gaining in spiritual depth.

They point out that Good Friday, with its emphasis on willing self-sacrifice and obedience unto death, is not congenial to the superficial kind of piety which seeks from religion only "peace of mind" or personal security.

"Some people may come to Easter services because it's the thing to do, or to show off their new clothes, or because they derive a vague comfort from the idea that death isn't the end of it all," said one clergyman. "But there is only one reason to come to church on Good Friday—to remember, in awe and wonder and gratitude, that on this day, at this hour, Christ died for my sins."

Alcoa Sales Show Drop in First Quarter

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Earnings of Aluminum Company of America dropped 23 per cent in the first quarter of 1957 on lower sales.

I. W. Wilson, president, told the annual meeting Thursday net income slipped to $18,594,086, or $.87 a share, from $24,287,262, or $1.16 a share, in the 1956 first quarter.

Sales declined from $219,300,654 to $208,613,541, he reported. Wilson attributed the drop to the reduction of aluminum inventories by customers.

However, he anticipated a good year for Alcoa "though it may be less than last year."

He estimated capital outlays would total $225 million in 1957, which he called the peak period in the company's current expansion program scheduled to be completed in 1960.

Stockholders were told the company plans to seek part of this sum in short term bank loans to be made later this year.

Shareholders approved an increase in authorized common shares from 25 million to 50 million, but Wilson said the company has no present plans for splitting its stock.

650-ACRE ESTATE PURCHASED — This 31-room mansion, located on a 650-acre estate, has been sold by a religious order to Dr. E. F. O'Leary, a Monessen physician, and Joseph Bracco, a Pittsburgh contractor. The new owners will convert it into a semi-private country club. Purchased for a reported $85,000, the estate is located near Vanderbilt in Fayette County.

University Finds Missing Rocket On the Roof

WASHINGTON (UP)—The University of Maryland has found its missing 3,800-mile-an-hour space rocket.

It didn't leave for Jupiter after all.

It only went as far as the roof of the University Administration Building.

Moreover, campus police who spent all day Thursday looking for the 15-foot long "Terrapin" and campus jokers suspect it didn't get to the four-story high roof on its own power.

The 200-pound rocket — lent to the university by Republic Aviation Corp.—had been on display in the Student Union Building.

When officials opened up the building Thursday morning, the rocket was gone. A note lying in its place said

"Farwell, earth people."

Leader Signs Bill To Regulate Salaries

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today signed legislation which will permit the increases or decrease of salaried appointed officials in the City of Pittsburgh during their terms of office.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. George J. Sarraff (D-Allegheny), amended an act of March 7, 1901, which provided for the regulation of second class cities and prohibited any increase or decrease in such salaries during terms of office.

Local Doctor Buys Fayette Estate; Plans Resort Area

Dr. E. F. O'Leary, a Monessen physician, and Joseph Bracco, a Pittsburgh contractor, today announced the purchase of St. James Park, a 650-acre estate with a 31-room mansion, near Vanderbilt in Fayette County. The purchase price was listed at $85,000.

The estate, formerly occupied as a novitiate and monastery by the Order of St. Basil the Great, Inc., will be converted into a semi-private country club.

The new owners plan to retain the name of St. James Park and develop the property as a resort with facilities for 100 guests and a dining room seating 200.

Dr. O'Leary said today there will also be an 18-hole golf course, on which work already has been started. Later there will be a summer stock theatre, he said.

The present swimming pool will be replaced with a larger and more modern pool.

31 Rooms in Home

The main residence, Linden Hall, built in 1911, is a modified English Tudor style, with 31 rooms, including 19 bedrooms and nine baths. The great hall, 62 x 28 feet, contains a $50,000 Aeolian organ, which was included in the sale, Dr. O'Leary stated.

Crystal chandeliers, a marble staircase with bronze balustrade, and three large stained glass windows are among the features of the mansion. A large recreation room is in the basement. There is an elevator to the third floor.

Besides the main mansion, there is another frame mansion with 20 rooms. The latter mansion will be completely renovated, according to tentative plans.

Also located on the sprawling estate is a 12-room residence above a four-car garage, a caretaker's house, a log house, a dairy barn and three farm buildings.

The residence overlooks a formal garden, three terraces, and a 40-foot swimming pool. A spring-fog pond and a lily pond are in the rear. A huge water tower is fed from a 290,000-gallon underground reservoir.

Police Narrow Search for Brutal Hit-run Driver

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Police pressing a relentless search for a brutal hit-run driver urged owners of 1952-53 Mercurys to bring them to the nearest police station for "clearance."

"The quicker we can scratch off those not involved, the sooner we can narrow the field down to the one guilty driver," said Lt. Edward Moody, head of the Accident Investigation Bureau.

"Owners who bring in their cars for checking will be given notes of clearance so they will no longer be bothered."

Witnesses to the hit-run slaying of Lloyd V. Stephens, 68, last Sunday night believed the death car was an ivory Mercury of 1952 or 1953 vintage. There are 2,960 such cars in San rancisco.

Stephens was returning home from a baseball game when the car hit him, knocking him under the wheels. He became enmeshed in the undercarriage.

Instead of stopping, the driver tromped on the accelerator and began swerving in a frantic attempt to dislodge Stephens. When this failed, he began speeding and then jamming on the brakes.

He did this for three blocks. At last, Stephens fell to the street, dead. Nearly every bone in his body was broken, and his skull fractured.

Local Merchants Taken to Task On Parking Tokens

Monessen merchants who have been neglecting to support the Chamber of Commerce's Park 'N Shop program were taken to task today in a special bulletin published by the Chamber.

Under the signature of Harold B. Cramer, chairman of the Monessen Parking Authority, and A. E. Wilen, chairman of the Park 'N Shop program, the bulletin said:

"It has been rather painful digesting the many complaints being directed our (the Chamber) way by public and city officials concerning the feeble success of our Park 'N Shop program. Unfortunetly many of our innocent merchants, the merchants who have been purchasing their share of the parking tokens must share this uncomfortable criticism.

"Checking over the records of the Park 'N Shop program, we find that several merchants have yet to purchase additional tokens since the program has been put into effect. Then we find some who have just made one additional purchase of tokens.

"Yet the same merchants for years made so much noise about the need for additional parking in our business district, and have repeatedly pledged to support any

McClellan Says Both Parties Equally Guilty

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Senate Labor Rackets Committee said today businessmen who offer bribes are just as guilty as union leaders who receive them and should be prosecuted.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) told reporters "We are going to find out" why three Scranton, Pa., Teamsters Union leaders were indicted by a federal grand jury for accepting money from contractors but the contractors were not punished.

He said the Justice Department has been asked to explain why there were no charges filed against contractor E. P. Bettendorf of Sandston, Va., at the same time Teamster business agents Robert Malloy and Joseph McHugh were indicted for accepting $4,200 from Bettendorf.

Charged With Extortion

The indictment charged that McHugh and Malloy obtained the money by extortion. However, the committee heard testimony that Bettendorf offered the money as a bribe to get his trucks into the Tobyhanna, Pa., Army Signal Corps depot without hiring drivers from the Scranton Teamsters local.

Malloy, McHugh and John Durkin, secretary-treasurer of Teamsters Local 229, also also charged with accepting payments from other contractors.

In Scranton, special U.S. Prosecutor Oliver Dibble said Bettendorf was not indicted because he will be a witness in the government's case against the three Teamsters Union leaders. In cases where the government uncovers evidence of payoffs, the grand jury has the "choice" of saying who is the more "culpable," Dibble said.

"If we indicted both in such a case we wouldn't be able to make one testify against the other," Dibble added, "so the grand jury decides which one is, so to speak, the more guilty and returns the indictment against him. Then the other serves as the witness."

However, Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. has complained in the past that one of his department's problems in dealing with extortion cases is "the very natural reluctance" of the victims and others involved to testify about it.

He said in a speech in 1955 that in extortion cases a "vast amount of time and effort" is needed to "gain the confidence of workers and contractors" who know the facts.

Scranton Probe Ends

The Rackets Committee Thursday ended two and a half days of hearings on labor violence in the Scranton area by referring testimony to the Justice Department for possible prosecution for perjury.

McClellan said somebody unquestionably committed perjury in testimony before his committee. He asked the Justice Department to sift the conflicting evidence to learn who failed to tell the truth.

Malloy, McHugh and Durkin swore they had nothing to do with labor violence in Scranton. They said they were against such tactics.

However, a former Teamsters muscle man, Paul Bradshaw, testified earlier that they ordered out strong-arm squads against non-union truck firms and building contractors.

Ike on 10-day Golfing Trip; Cough Hangs on

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP)—President Eisenhower, still bothered by a nagging cough that developed on his last trip to Georgia, today planned to play another round of golf, weather and paper work from Washington permitting.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower arrived here Thursday for an Easter holiday of a week or 10 days, and the Chief Executive got 18 holes of afternoon golf despite occasional showers.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he expected the President would play another 18-hole round today. There were no announced plans for the Eisenhowers to attend Good Friday church services, but they were expected to attend church on Easter Sunday.

This was the President's 14th trip to Augusta since taking office, and his doctor, Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, hoped the warm weather would clear up the cough that has annoyed Eisenhower since late in the winter.

Eisenhower made his last golfing visit here in early February, but he returned to Georgia for a golfing-quail hunting trip to Thomasville, later in the month. The President developed his cold at Thomasville, and while most of the other symptoms of the cold vanished, the nagging cough remained.

Man Critically Injured In N. B. V. Accident

A 36-year-old Belle Vernon R. D. man, William Hall, is in critical condition in Charleroi-Monessen Hospital following a traffic accident on the Turnpike spur in North Belle Vernon last night about 9:30.

Police Chief M. E. Anthony, of North Belle Vernon, said today that Hall must have been "traveling at least 90 miles an hour" when his auto just brushed Anthony and slammed the rear of a car stopped because of an accident several minutes earlier.

Hall was admitted to the hospital about 10 p. m. with a cerebral concussion, bruises and lacerations about the face and chest injuries. He was unconscious when taken to the hospital.

According to Chief Anthony, the first accident occurred shortly after 9 o'clock when a car operated by Roy Holbrook, of 514 Baltimore St., Belle Vernon, pulled from a service station onto the highway directly in front of a car driven by Dennis Cernicky, 16, of 386 Fell St., Belle Vernon.

Hall, the chief said, "tore down the highway where vision was clear for at least a mile" and rammed into the rear of the Cernicky machine. Hall was thrown through an open left front window by the impact and landed face down on the concrete highway. The Hall car continued traveling about 50 yards and came to a stop against a guard rail. Both cars were demolished, Anthony stated.

Doris Smoot, 14, of Belle Vernon, and Harry Harger, 16, also of Belle Vernon, passengers in the Cernicky car were slightly injured in the first collision. Two other passengers, Faith McBee

British Ship Is First to Pass Through Suez

By UNITED PRESS

The British freighter West Breeze sailed through the Suez Canal today — first British ship to do so since the invasion of last October The Egyptian press was jubilant and predicted an early end to any Western boycott of the canal

The situation in Jordan quieted down for the moment, but the new anti-Communist policy of the Amman government had repercussions in Jerusalem today. Jordan border authorities refused to admit three Russian nuns because they carried Soviet passports.

Jordan opened the border to Russians only last Christmas, but balked at today's Easter Pilgrims

The Egyptian authority announced in Port Said that the American President Inch President Jackson would pass through the canal next Wednesday, the first American ship to do so. It said the 9 277-ton ship also would pay its tolls to Egypt The ship is en route to New York from India and Pakistan.

The Egyptian government newspaper Al Gomhouria said Britain had "failed in her attempt to force British ships to boycott the canal as a measure of political pressure on Egypt" and commented that British shipping firms were "more intelligent and more realistic" than the government "by actually applying the principle of insulating the Suez Canal from politics."

This was a dig at American efforts in Cairo to get Nasser to accept the U. N. Security Council's resolution calling for insulation of the canal from Egyptian politics.

Israel was reported increasingly concerned at the way the Suez negotiations were going. A Jerusalem dispatch said Premier David Ben-Gurion also was so concerned about recent statements by President Eisenhower he asked his ambassador in Washington to seek clarification.

The chief Israeli concern was Eisenhower's statement that American ships had been advised not to try to force their way where they are "forbidden" Israel feared this meant the Americans were not living up to promises to see that the Gulf of Aqaba was open to international navigation

The political crisis in Jordan appeared to have quieted down—at least temporarily—although Israel claimed attacks Thursday by a small band of Jordanian infiltrators and a two-hour gunfight with Syrian troops in northern Israel.

Big Manhunt on For $66,573 In Connecticut

SUFFIELD, Conn. (UP)—The greatest manhunt in Connecticut history was over today, but a new search—for $66 573—was on.

Francis Kolakowski, accused wife - slayer and payroll bandit, died by his own hand Thursday after killing FBI Agent Richard P Horan, 34, one of the 50 law enforcement officers who had trapped the 42-year-old Hartford man in his sister's home. The sister, Mrs. Wanda Slater, had called police.

Kolakowski was found dead on the kitchen floor but there was no trace of the money he is believed to have taken in a daylight payroll stickup at the Hartford Machine Screw Co. at Windsor April 11. State police said they would try to retrace the bandit's steps in an effort to locate the money

Kolakowski had been sought since the March 29 slaying of his wife, Helen, before the eyes of their 13-year-old daughter Carolyn at Hartford. Two weeks later, Kolakowski was identified by witnesses as the man who staged the Windsor holdup The FBI entered the case in the belief he fled across state lines to avoid prosecution.

Kolakowski, at the time of his wife's slaying, was free in $10,000 bond pending superior court trial on a morals charge involving his daughter.

Anyone Wanting $1,508?

WASHINGTON (UP) — Thrifty Sen John J Williams (R-Del.) is having a terrible time trying to give the U. S. Treasury a $1,508 refund.

Those fellows at the Treasury apparently just don't want the money.

Williams portrayed Uncle Sam to the Senate Thursday in a manner that may appear somewhat strange to taxpayers whose latest reminder of the old gentleman's existence was April 15

The senator pictured good old Sam as a man with his hand out, all right. But Sam was stubbornly offering, not taking.

Williams, who helped uncover internal revenue scandals in 1951, told the Senate that for years he has returned to the Treasury much of the $1,800 a year that the government gives each senator for office expenses.

He said this last fiscal year he spent only $291 74 of his $1,800 for such things as writing paper and paper clips. So he tried to give the Treasury a $1,508 26 refund.

Nothing doing He said he was told that under a new government ruling the money could not be refunded.

Subject to Taxes

Moreover, he said he was warned that if he didn't spend it he would have to pay income taxes on it.

Williams said that in his subsequent efforts to press $1,508.26 on the Treasury, he was advised of several ways to "get around" his apparently unusual problem.

He said he was told that one easy solution would be to order $1,508 26 worth of stationery and have it hauled to the city dump.

"The government would be rid of the money. I would be subject to no penalty and everybody but the taxpayers would be happy," he said.

Williams said another suggested solution was that he make a gift of the money to the Treasury.

"How could I give something which does not belong to me in the first place?" he asked

"Furthermore the individual giving the money back in this way could be subject to gift taxes. You would be paying the Treasury Department to take back what is already theirs."

Salary Increases

HARRISBURG (UP)—Some 700 state store employes will receive meritorious salary hikes of approximately 5 per cent after May 10.

Truck Spokesman Is Critical of Toll Cuts; Refers to 'Chicanery'

HARRISBURG (UP) — An official of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association today described recommendations of truck toll cuts on the Pennsylvania Turnpike as "chicanery."

Edward Gogolin, general manager of the trucking association, said the 10 to 50 per cent truck toll cuts proposed by the commission's consulting engineers, Michael Baker, Jr., Inc., Rochester, Pa., were actually increases for truckers.

"They have described then toll chicanery as rate reductions," Gogolin said. "We believe they should revise tolls to the level prior to the last two truck toll increases and re-establish the turnpike as the outstanding toll road in the nation."

The toll cuts were recommended to the commission Feb. 27 because of a continuous decline in truck traffic, particularly on the eastern part of the turnpike. The engineering firm recommended the cuts be put into effect by July 1.

But Dr. Merritt L. Williamson, acting chairman of the Turnpike Commission, said the suggested deadline was "impossible." He said the agency still was studying the recommendations and no date was set for a meeting to discuss the problem.

Gogolin also charged that while the engineering firm recommended toll cuts it tampered with volume discounts so that truckers actually would pay 20 per cent higher rates for using the highway.

Discount Changed

The present rate schedule allows no discount on volumes of business less than $300 per month A discount of 5 per cent is given on business between $300 and $800 with posting of a $1,000 bond or on the basis of two months business. A 10 per cent discount is given between $800 and $2,000 and posting of a $2,500 surety bond while a 20 per cent discount is given on business of more than $2,000 and posting of a $5,000 bond.

The Baker firm proposed elimination of the present discount system and suggested a 10 per cent discount be given only on business over $2,000 per month.

The engineering firm said its recommendations would reduce the average toll for trucks traveling the full length of the turnpike about 22 per cent

The flat rates for heavier trucks would be reduced on the average slightly more than 10 per cent on the section from Irwin to the Ohio line, 30 per cent on the Northeastern Extension and 35 per cent on the Philadelphia extension between the Carlisle and Valley Forge interchanges.

The commission was warned that tolls for passenger cars using the Northeast and Delaware River extensions may have to be increased if those sections of the road do not bring in enough revenue to cover land commitments in the future. But the Baker firm said the agency should have the benefit of a full year's experience with a complete Northeastern Extension before it takes action to increase passenger rates

Ike Announces New Diplomatic Appointments

AUGUSTA, Ga (UP)—President Eisenhower today announced a series of new diplomatic appointments, including new United States envoys to Mexico, Sweden and Colombia.

When Congress returns from its current Easter recess, the President will nominate:

Robert C Hill, now assistant secretary of state for congressional relations, to Mexico.

Francis White, now the ambassador to Mexico, to Sweden.

John M Cabot, envoy to Sweden, will be shifted to Colombia, replacing Philip W Bonsal who recently was named to Bolivia.

Announcement of the diplomatic shifts all involving men now in the Foreign Service, came from Eisenhower's vacation headquarters here where he hoped to get in another midday round of golf after devoting the morning to paper work in his tiny office at the Augusta National Golf Club.

Postal Official Blames Democrats For Big Snafu

PITTSBURGH (UP)—An assistant to Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield blames the Democrats for the snafu in the postal service last week end.

Eugene J. Lyons, assistant postmaster general in charge of personnel, said Thursday night the controversy over the Post Office Department's request for additional operating funds was "nothing more than a political situation created by the opposition to embarrass Postmaster General Summerfield."

"For eight years prior to the Eisenhower administration there were supplemental appropriations to the annual Post Office budget. The last one was for 176 million dollars," he said.

Lyons said Congress and the Bureau of the Budget cut funds from Summerfield's requests for the current fiscal year because they felt the postmaster general's estimate of anticipated mail volume was excessive.

"We were right and they were wrong," he said.

Lyons, here to address the Pittsburgh Personnel Assn., said postal rates are inadequate and should be raised.

"They are no more adequate than a 1932 salary would be in meeting 1957 living costs," he said.

Bad Weather Reported

By UNITED PRESS

Tornadoes, severe thunderstorms, fog and snow swept portions of the nations central section in a new outbreak of spring weather violence.

Locally violent storms with hail and heavy rain slammed into South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas and northern Oklahoma during the night.

Twisters roamed over parts of Texas late Thursday, but little damage was reported. Two tornadoes hit the ground near Pottsboro, near the Oklahoma border, but disappeared after destroying chicken houses and a garage and damaging a home.

Hail stones the size of marbles piled up six inches deep at Wolsey, S D. northwest of Huron. During a sudden storm telephone communications were disrupted at Huron and Aberdeen, S.D.

Snow blanketed the higher elevations of the Central and Northern Rockies and weathermen warned the snow is expected to spread today into the western portion of the Central and Northern Plains States.

Dense fog shrouded the lower Great Lakes for the second night in a row, closing Chicago's Midway Airport, the world's busiest, and O'Hara Field and stranding hundreds of airline passengers. All major airlines cancelled flights in and out of the city during the night.

The fog also closed airports at Detroit, Jackson and Lansing, Mich., Thursday night.

Temperatures continued generally mild during the night, and temperatures were expected to shoot up into the 70s today in the Ohio Valley and the Great Lakes region.

A few showers and thunderstorms occurred during the night from southern Illinois through Arkansas and in Pennsylvania and New York.

Hospitals Ask Increased Aid

Two Seek $111,000 From State

Two district hospitals have asked the state Legislature for $111,000 in state aid for free patient care during the 1957-58 biennium beginning June 1, it was announced today.

Charleroi-Monessen Hospital is asking for $85,000 while Monongahela Memorial Hospital is seeking $26,000. Their requests were filed with the House Appropriations Committee.

State aid to local community hospitals is based on free patient care provided those indigents are unable to pay their own hospital bills.

The Charleroi-Monessen request is $35,000 more than was requested during the last biennium.

The hospital listed a total of 7,766 free patient days during the present two-year period and estimated free patient days for the coming biennium at 8,541.

Free patient care costs during the present biennium totaled $115,564 but the hospital estimates this will increase to $138,876 during the upcoming two-year period.

Total number of patients cared for during the biennium just ending was set at 4,397, including 407 private patients, 1,873 semi-private, 1,981 full paying ward, 13 part pay ward and 123 public ward free.

Monongahela Memorial Hospital, biennium is one of the few hospitals throughout the state that has not requested an increase over the current allocation.

The hospital listed a total of 2,519 free patient days during the present two-year period and estimated free patient days for the coming biennium at 3,250.

Cost of free patient care during the present biennium totaled $24,672 but the hospital estimates this will increase to $47,645 during the upcoming two-year period.

Total number of patients cared for during the biennium just ending was set at 9,54, including 1,383 private patients, 2,150 semi-private, 5751 full pay ward, 22 part pay ward, and 218 public ward free.

The estimated overall total for the few biennium was not given by the hospital in its report to the committee.

King Hussein Says Jordan Will Steer Clear of All 'Imperialism'

By JOE MORRIS

AMMAN, Jordan (UP) — King Hussein of Jordan said today his country would fight all "imperialism," avoid foreign pacts and steer clear of such imported dogmas as Communism.

In the first interview since his stormy cabinet crisis the 22-year-old monarch said Jordan would observe "positive neutrality" but that "we lead and need no leading."

He rejected a projects "which have not been accepted by the member states represented in the last Cairo conference" — Egypt, Syria, Saudi Arabia and Jordan.

No Names Mentioned

Hussein did not mention any foreign aid projects by name nor did he refer to the Eisenhower Doctrine.

But he said Jordan woud approve or disapprove aid projects "after careful study by the countries concerned of any such project or projects through an unbiased eye and aspired by Arab history, tradition and interest."

The interview took place in Hussein's hilltop palace. The young king wore a blue suit. He smiled frequently and was fully at ease.

Asked about his plans for fighting Communism he said his people "will not sell themselves to any destructive conventions."

King Hussein

Hussein said that the recent government changes did not mean any "change of policy" and called the reasons "routine affairs of state."

Comments On Cabinet

On the recent government change and the reasons for it he said:

"It is natural to exercise any rights under the constitution when public interests require such exercise.

"Therefore I should say that the outgoing cabinet resigned upon my exercising my prerogative. I shoud ike to assure you that the change of cabinets does not mean a change of policy because the policy of Jordan is not made by any cabinet.

"It came in harmony with the interest of the Arabs in Jordan and elsewhere. The reasons that have led to the change of the outgoing cabinet are routine affairs of state which are known to me as we as a members of the outgoing cabinet."

53 in Narrow Escape In Airplane Landing

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A four-engine Capital Airlines plane carrying 50 passengers and 3 crew members caught fire while making a landing at Greater Pittsburgh Airport Thursday, sending a brief wave of panic through the ship.

All aboard got out of the plane safely in a hurried scramble for the exit. Nine passengers reported bruises and were examined by physicians who said there were no apparent serious injuries.

Waiting Air Force and airport firefighters quickly doused the flames leaping from the inside engine on the right wing after the DC4 came to a halt.

The plane, Flight 491 from Buffalo, N.Y., to Pittsburgh, actually landed twice. It hit the concrete runway hard the first time and the control panel indicators showed the landing gear was unsafe. The pilot, Capt. R. L. Calhoun, Alexandria, Va., took off again.

While approaching the runway the second time the plane caught fire.

Mrs. John Burnham, Buffalo, N.Y., said someone shouted "It's on fire" and then the plane's loud speaker gave the warning, "Prepare for a crash landing."

Mrs. Burnham said there was a brief wave of panic when the plane landed but a stewardess, Katherine Szymanski, New Kensington, Pa., shouted, "Keep calm," and the passengers relaxed.

Among the passengers were Mrs. F. C. Hoover, Pittsburgh; William J. Bubyak, Fremont St., McKeesport, Pa.; T. J. Hazzard, Castle Shannon, near Pittsburgh and Mrs. Doris Jackson, Buckhannon, W. Va.

"When we stepped on the ground, we thanked God. He was with us today," Mrs. Burnham said. She was enroute with her husband and two daughters for a Florida vacation.

Officials said the fire apparently was caused by a rupture in a fuel line or fuel tank caused by the first landing attempt.

Vice Figures Quit the Force

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Three policemen convicted in a 1951 vice squad investigation resigned from the force Thursday as they were about to appear at a police trial board hearing.

The three men, Guy Russo, Martin Scanlon and Alan Tanser, lost an appeal this week to the Pennsylvania Supreme Court and must begin serving sentences in the Allegheny County Workhouse. Scanlon received a term of four months and the others six to twelve months. All three were convicted of obstructing justice.

In their resignations the men maintained their innocence and said they were quitting the force only because of the state Supreme Court decision.

Mental Health Week in County Starts April 28

Mental Health Week will be observed in Westmoreland County and throughout the nation from April 28 to May 4, Mrs. Sue Sutton, of the State Department of Public Assistance office in Greensburg, announced.

The National Association for Mental Health has revealed in an announcement that for the first time in many years "There was a definite decline in the rise of our nation's mental hospital population during 1955."

There was an increase of only 6,000 in the mental hospital rolls as compared with an average increase of 12,000 for the past 10 years. In some states there was actually a decrease in mental hospital patients.

The announcement pointed out that for the past 30 years mental hospital rolls have been climbing steadily and steeply, until in 1956 they reached the staggering figure of 750,000.

During Mental Health Week the national organization will attempt to mobilize citizen interest and action in behalf of the mentally ill who have been neglected so long.

The announcement further stated that the mentally ill "can come back-recovered, healthy and normal — if others more fortunate will help them."

Westinghouse to Boost Earnings Over Last Year

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Westinghouse Electric Corp., which suffered a net loss of $18,575,000 in the first quarter a year ago due to a crippling strike, will earn "at least" 80 cents a share in the same period this year, it was predicted Thursday.

Mark W. Cresap Jr., company president, told the Financial Analysists of Philadelphia that in both January and Feburary profits were equal to 25 cents a share.

Cresap added "we are confident that March will be at least as good. I am quite certain that our first quarter income will be at least 80 cents a share."

He stood by his earlier prediction that Westinghouse in 1957 would achieve sales in the neighborhood of a record 2-billion dollars with earnings per share of $3.50 to $4.

"If we can earn at this per share rate in 1957, and we think we will, then 1958 should establish a new level of earnings for us," Cresap declared.

New Unit Will Expedite Work of Engineering Firms

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Highways Department announced today establishment of a new unit to expedite preparation of construction plans by contract engineering firms.

The department announced that E. E. Gilham, Progress, veteran highway engineer, will have charge of the new unit. It will also be assigned the task of assisting district engineers in checking specifications and standards.

Six qualified engineers have been assigned to assist in the work. They are Leonard J. Curran, currently district engineer at Pittsburgh who will handle the contract engineering in five western districts; Jack Wolf, Indiana, assigned to coordinate work in District 5 (Allentown) and District 6 (Haverford); James Whalen, Scranton, assigned to coordinate work in District 3 (Montoursville) and District 4 (Scranton); H. N. Harper, Uniontown; Jesse Imler, Hollidaysburg, and R S. Kepner, Clearfield.

Receive Bids for Polk School Work

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Property and Supplies Department has received unofficial low bids totaling 85,718 for enlarging a garage at Polk State School, Venango County.

Means Brothers, Punxsutawney, submitted a $78,775 bid for general construction and the Eckert Plumbing Co., Oil City, bid $6,943 for plumbing and heating work.

It's Official; McDonald Is Steelworkers Chief

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The United Steelworkers reported today that David J. McDonald won re-election to his second term as president of the 1,200,000-member union by an 181,000-vote margin over Donald C. Rarick, a McKeesport, Pa., millhand who challenged McDonald's administration.

The official tally as reported by the USW International Board of tellers showd:

McDonald	404,172
Rarick	223,516

The anti-McDonald forces, which based their campaign on opposition to a $2-a-month dues increase, scored one victory, however. Paul M. Hilbert, defeated McDonald's candidate for director of USW District 15 in the Monongahela Valley, biggest steel producing district in the Pittsburgh area.

International secretary-treasurer I. W. Abel won re-election over William Klug of Milwaukee, who was Rarick's running mate on the opposition slate. The tally in that contest was Abel 420,085 to Klug's 181,264.

Howard R. Hague, who ran unopposed for re-election as vice president, polled 479,747 votes.

Paul Schremp, Lorain, Ohio, defeated B. W. Ohler, Cleveland, the incumbent, for director of USW Dist. 28, which encompasses steel union locals in the Cleveland area. Schremp was not allied with the Rarick forces, however.

Rarick, who waged a vigorous campaign in which he charged he was offered $250,000 to withdraw from the race, polled approximately 35 per cent of the vote in the first election in which a USW president was opposed for re-election.

The $7,500-a-year member of a U.S. Steel Corp. mill crane crew polled most of his strength in McDonald's backyard—the USW locals in the Pittsburgh, McKeesport, Pa., and nearby Western Pennsylvania and Ohio areas.

Rarick never elaborated on his spectacular "bribe" offer in which he said he was offered a lifetime job. McDonald's reply to the charge was that it was an "unmitigated lie."

An unofficial tally in the days after the election had showed McDonald won handily but was presented with a surprisingly strong protest vote among the unions more than 2,500 locals throughout the United States and Canada.

As compiled by the United Press, incomplete and unofficial returns gave McDonald 188,839 to 105,744 for Rarick.

The post as USW international president pays $50,000 a year.

Pass the 'Open Meeting' Bill

ETERNAL vigilance, it's been said, is the price of liberty. And a truer phrase was never coined.

The people of Pennsylvania could do themselves and their posterity a favor if they would practice a little vigilance on their legislature at Harrisburg right now.

We're referring to Senate Bill 224, known as the "open meeting" bill. It is a proposal which, if enacted into law, would require public bodies of all kinds, including ahthorities, to hold their meetings and transact their business at sessions open to the public.

Many bodies, of course, such as city and borough councils, school boards, county commissioners and others are already required to hold open meetings. But the law is not sufficiently clear with respect to others. SB 224 is designed to plug the known loopholes.

SB 224 got off to a fine start in the Senate, where it was first introduced. It passed by a unanimous vote of 50 to 0, and its advocates thought the battle was won.

But apparently it hasn't been — not yet. For when the bill reached the House, it was turned over to the Municipal Corporations Committee. And it stopped right there.

We understand there is a good chance that it will stay stopped, too, unless immediate public pressure is exerted to get it to the floor for a vote.

* * *

IT'S HARD to conceive how a bill passed unanimously by the Senate could be ditched without a vote in the House. But it is possible, and committee procedures at Harrisburg make it difficult to fix the responsibility.

Our information is that only a few — possibly only two or three — members of the committee are actively opposed to SB 224. And we have no means of knowing who they are nor why they are opposing the bill.

The only thing to do in the circumstances, if the reader feels as we do about SB 224, is to write to the chairman of the Municipal Corporations Committee and urge him to get SB 224 reported promptly to the floor of the House.

The chairman is Rep. Stanley L. Blair, a Republican, of 19 West Ave., Albion, Pa. Letters or messages will also reach Mr. Blair if addressed to him at The Capitol, Harrisburg, Pa.

A little citizen vigilance in this matter is necessary and probably will bring results.

Judge McWherter

JUDGE George H. McWherter of Westmoreland County common pleas court, who died Wednesday after a long illness, was the nearest thing to a successfully independent Democrat the county has had in a long time.

Judge McWherter was the leader of a faction of the party which did not always accomodate itself to the dictates of the ruling group in the courthouse. Sometimes the tension was kept under the surface, but sometimes, as in the case of Judge McWherter's own candidacies, it erupted into open war. And somehow or other, he managed to take care of himself pretty well.

This gave the county judiciary about the only spark of independence it has had in the long period during which Westmoreland has been dominated politically by the courthouse machine. Judge McWherter could at least be his own man when he chose to be.

For the past couple of years, he has been incurably ill and has not carried out his duties. We have been among those who thought the public interest required him to resign even though his successor probably would have been chosen from among his political enemies. He was, after all, accepting pay without performing a service.

Judge McWherter's death seems likely to make an already complicated political situation in Westmoreland County even more complicated. Instead of two places on the common pleas bench to be filled, now there are three.

It is probably obvious to say that the choice of Judge McWherter's successor and the manner in which he is chosen will be a matter of serious consequence in county politics.

Scranton's Goons

SOME particularly ugly testimony has gone into the record of the Senate investigating committee this week with respect to conduct of Teamster Union officers and "goon squads" in Scranton, Pa.

The testimony suggests that the Teamsters have gone in for strong-arm methods, including assault and battery, against both working people and employers, chiefly contractors employing non-union labor.

The story, of course, is not entirely an original one. Such tactics not too many years ago were standard operating procedure in many unions which have since gone more respectable. But the Scranton information should quicken all efforts to rid the labor-management scene of people who are capable of such activities. They have no place in any civilized community.

Merry-Go-Round—

Record of Norman Case Complicated

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The complex maze of statements, Senate speeches, and diplomatic notes fired back and forth in the case of the Canadian Ambassador's suicide make it extremely difficult to know just who is telling the truth.

Mr. Pearson

Truth in this case is particularly important because it involves relations with two important nations: 1, Canada, perhaps our most vital neighbor; 2, Ireland, another strong friend, to which Scott McLeod has just been appointed Ambassador.

McLeod is in charge of the State Department office which allegedly OK'd release of the date on Canadian Ambassador Norman, as a result of which some opposition to his appointment has arisen in Ireland. Senator Neuberger (D., Ore.) has asked for an investigation.

One question is whether McLeod and his State Department Security Division have been cooperating with the Senate Internal Security subcommittee in conducting a McCarthy-type witch-hunt.

In addition, Canada charges that we were meddling in her affairs by trying to decide whom she should have as Ambassador to Egypt.

Just what is the truth?

Denial No. 1 — Senator Eastland of Mississippi denies the above. Defending his Internal Security subcommittee on the Senate floor, he said

"There were two hearings held. They were not investigations of Ambassador Norman, but of personnel in our own State Department."

The Truth — The record does not bear this out. It shows that State Department personnel, namely John K. Emmerson of the U. S. Embassy in Beirut, was questioned for the sole purpose of embarrassing Ambassador Norman. Counsel Robert Morris gratuitously read into the record the derogatory FBI report against Norman, then proceeded to ask Emmerson question after question about Norman, when he last saw him, what friends he had, whether he ever criticized the USA, whether he criticized U. S. policy in the Mideast. Senator Jenner (R., Ind.) joined in the heckling.

Denial No. 2 — The State Department denied that it had ever OK'd publication of the record on Ambassador Norman, claiming only the testimony of John Emmerson was released. It's difficult, however, to see how the two could be separated.

Denial No. 3 — The Senate Security subcommittee issued a statement: "The transcript was cleared for publication by the State Department." Later, senators withdrew this statement.

The Truth — When the senators issued this statement, Robert Cartwright, assistant to Scott McLeod and acting chief of the State Department Security Division, phoned Committee Counsel Morris to say he was being put on the spot. Morris was very consoling. He assured his friend he was doing all he could to stop the subcommittee's statement.

The statement was then withdrawn, but not stopped.

Cartwright was with the FBI 21 years. He left the FBI to come to the State Department four years ago, about the time McLeod became security officer. He is the brother of Monsignor Cartwright of St. Matthews Cathedral, is a close friend of both McLeod and Morris, was even present when the Senate testimony on Ambassador Norman was taken.

Cartwright, however, did not act alone. Roderic O'Connor, Deputy Assistant Secretary of State and the man Secretary Dulles has appointed to replace McLeod, went with Cartwright to the Senate subcommittee and OK'd the release of Emmerson's testimony, even though they must have known how difficult it was to separate this from other matters pertaining to Norman.

Denial No. 4 — J. Edgar Hoover issued a statement: "The FBI has not made available to the Senate Security subcommittee any reports or files or information pertaining to the late Egerton Herbert Norman."

The Truth — The Senate subcommittee asked the State Department to get the Norman report from the FBI, the FBI gave it to the State Department, and the State Department then gave it to the Senate subcommittee.

Today and Tomorrow—

Some Impressions from Europe

By WALTER LIPPMANN

ROME — One of the things that has impressed me in Great Britain and again in Italy is that in foreign affairs there are no clear and sharp issues. There was, of course, a deep division of feeling over the Suez affair. But now that the intervention has failed and has been liquidated, there does not seem to be anywhere a definite difference of view as to what the Western world or the United States should do next.

Mr. Lippmann

My impression is that here in Italy there is a feeling of solidarity with the British and the French but that this feeling is checked by a strong practical sense that it is the national interest of Italy to go along with the United States.

Doubt War Danger

In moving about the talking to a variety of people from the countries of Western Europe I have found a remarkable amount of agreement, almost a consensus, about the Soviet Union, about the Middle East, and about the United States.

I have seen no one who thinks the Soviet Union is planning and is preparing for a general war. For that reason the resounding declarations of the so-called Eisenhower Doctrine are received with puzzled incredulity. Some think that the President and Mr. Dulles are living in an unreal world, emphasizing dangers that will probably not come and not dealing with dangers that do in fact exist. Others think that they must mean something deep, so deep that nobody understands it.

I have seen no one who thinks that the Soviet Union is at present willing or able to negotiate a general German or European settlement. The commonly accepted view is that the Soviet Union cannot afford to withdraw the Red Army from Eastern Germany and from Poland. This would mean the fall of the East German Communist regime, and along with that a turning of Poland and Hungary against Russia.

Accept Partition

Some whom I have seen think that there is nothing for the West to do but to back up Dr. Adenauer and accept the fact that Europe is partitioned. Others, who are, I believe, more farsighted, think the West should keep on trying to negotiate, offering the Soviet Union terms which Moscow, were it less frightened and suspicious, could find reasonable.

There is a general view, I found, that in the rivalry for the so-called uncommitted nations of Africa, the Middle East, and South Asia, the Soviet Union has an easier hand to play than has the United States. There is a feeling that the Soviet Union has won the game in Nasser's Egypt. Certainly it would be a pleasant surprise in Europe if Eisenhower and Dulles are able to hold their own in the game.

Although I have not encountered it myself, there is obviously wide anti-American feeling. There is, on the one hand, a big distaste for the manners and the bearing of Americans traveling abroad or talking to the outer world. The comfrots and the conveniences of the American way of life are popular. But the talk that goes with them, be it from tourists, itinerant congressmen, or other officials is definitely unpopular.

Disillusioned with Ike

There is in the anti-American feeling a general disillusionment with President Eisenhower himself. There is an extraordinary lack of confidence in Secretary Dulles. There is a general underlying anxiety that the fate of Europe should so much depend upon them. The feeling seems to be unanimous as one learns not only in private conversation but also in blunt correspondence in the responsible European press, that the President is a tired man living in a kind of semi-retirement.

All this tends to strengthen the feeling in favor of projects, like the common market, of European solidarity. I have no doubt that the brilliant reception of Queen Elizabeth in Paris reflects in some considerable measure this new feeling of European solidarity. Yet I am unable to judge, nor is anyone I have talked with, whether the general feeling of European solidarity is strong enough to overcome the national feelings and the vested interests which keep Europe divided.

It will be years before we know. But in the meantime the common effort to work at these common projects is in itself a healthy manifestation of European solidarity.

Turkey Key Country In Cyprus Dispute

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Turkey is becoming the key country in the dispute over the future of the eastern Mediterranean island of Cyprus.

Britain is now making a new attempt to negotiate a settlement with the Greek - Cypriote islanders, the Greek government and the Turkish government.

Mr. McCann

To that end, it has released from exile on an Indian Ocean island Greek Archbishop Makarios, leader of the islanders who demand that Cyprus be handed over to Greece.

So far, Britain's negotiations have not gone very far.

For one thing, no basis for a settlement acceptable to Makarios and the Greek government — or even a basis for negotiations—has been found.

Turkey's Attitude Hardens

But there is another big obstacle. The attitude of Turkey is hardening steadily. As the situation stands now, Turkey is most unlikely to accept any settlement which would be acceptable to Makarios, as the leader of the Greek-Cypriotes, or to the Greek government.

The Turkish government made no secret of its extreme displeasure over Britain's release of Makarios.

Turkish newspapers, which directly reflect the government attitude, are denouncing Makarios as "the instigator, in fact the very personification," of the terrorism to which the Greek-Cypriote islanders resorted to in their campaign for "self - determination."

Talks Continuing

Turkey's fear is that, in its eagerness for a settlement, Britain may agree to give the Greek-Cypriotes domination over those islanders who are of Turkish stock.

Diplomatic negotiations are proceeding between Britain and Turkey in Ankara, the Turkish capital, and in London.

Ankara dispatches say that if Britain tries to make any concession to the Greek - Cypriotes that Turkey does not approve, British-Turkish relations will be endangered.

The entire situation seems headed for a deadlock. Turkey is most unlikely to recognize any Cyprus settlement in which Makarios takes part. Makarios has said that he will refuse to negotiate with representatives of the Turkish population of Cyprus. Makarios has said further that he will not negotiate unless he is permitted to return to Cyprus, from which Britain still bars him.

Frostbite May Become Big Kitchen Hazard

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Frostbite soon may replace the burn as the number one kitchen hazard.

Food marketing expert E. W. Williams predicts that in 10 years, more than 50 per cent of the food we buy will be frozen. The kitchen range as we know it today "will eventually disappear . . . and be replaced by microwave cooking," said Williams.

Gay Pauley

"The revolution is well on its way," Williams, publisher of the trade magazine Quick Frozen Foods, told the Eastern Frosted Foods Association convention here this week.

"The gadget - laden kitchen... with its pots and pans, messiness and long hours over a hot stove will soon become as antiquated as...the coffee grinder."

Williams said 10 million U.S. families now eat their meals at least twice a week in front of the television set. "And most of them are eating frozen foods," he added.

He said some 500 prepared frozen foods are being sold—these in addition to the hundreds of other frozen products such as peas and asparagus, which need cooking.

"Prepared" is the industry's terms for such foods as pot pies and soups which require little more than heating and serving.

Sales of the prepared frozen foods alone increased 35 per cent last year, Williams said. This year, he predicted, we will eat some 400 million frozen pot pies, 50 million heat-and-serve dinners, 60 to 70 million fruit pies, and 320 pounds of potato products.

Our national grocery bill this year will run about 71 billion dollars the Grocery Manufacturers of America report. Of this, all types of frozen foods take a "bite" of one billion 600 million dollars.

"Small bite now," said a GMA spokesman. But each year it gets bigger."

Each year also the list of luxury frozen items gets longer.

The housewife can buy artichoke hearts, frogs' legs, snails, crab roe, bear meat, dandelion greens, passion fruit or bean sprouts. Or, she can purchase dozens of the so-called nationality foods. Williams said purchases of these—including Italian, Mexican and Oriental—add up to 80 million dollars a year.

Barcelona Wonderful But Is Out of Octopus

By DOC QUIGG

BARCELONA, Spain (UP)—Any of you folks ever eat any octopus boiled in its own ink? I thought not. Neither have I. Furthermore, I am beginning to believe there isn't any such thing.

In two countries, now—Portugal and Spain—I have been begging for a dish of octopus boiled in its own ink, a coal-black mess which was described to me before I left home as a gourmet's delight in the fishy restaurants that abound on the rim of the Mediterranean.

The ink—the stuff an octopus in peril squirts out into the water to get its enemies smog-bound, or maybe smink-bound—is supposed to give the dish a flavor all its own. I have eaten seal and penguin (a blubbery menace, if not prepared with care) at Little America, and have come through with stomach unscarred, so I thought perhaps a nip or two of tentacle in ink would be a reportorial duty.

Ink Eradicated

All the restaurants I have visited are fresh out. They have octopus, but with the ink eradicated. Portugal has "polvo"—baby octopus with rice. Incidentally, it also has "pescada," a fish whose name is also another word, the past tense of the verb "to fish." Hence, the old Portuguese saying: "Pescada is a fish that is fished before it is fished."

In a Spanish sea food restaurant, I asked hopefully for the dish I am willing to sacrifice myself for. Ah, they said, we know, the "calamres en su tinta"—baby octopus in its own ink. They were so sorry. Not tonight. Maybe I could get some in Italy when I go there, they suggested. I'll try. But without hope.

Meanwhile, there is Barcelona to enjoy, a lovely city with beautiful tree-lined avenues in which there is a rugged battle being waged by the two colas, Pepsi and Coca. There is music, dancing in the streets, and a sweetheart of a hotel named the Avenida Palace, in which our touring press group is staying.

My room has a phone in the bathtub.

A "Roaring" Conversation

This is an extension of the phone beside the bed. It is mounted on the wall at the rear (that is, non-faucet) end of the tub. As soon as I arrived, I began taking a shower and then realized my baggage had not been delivered. I put down the soap, picked up the phone, and called a member of our party to see if he were in the same fix. There was a roaring in the phone as he answered.

"What's that noise?" I asked.

"My shower," he said. "I'm in it."

This hotel has such inspirations as a magnifying mirror in the bathroom for shaving or primping, complete with tiny light that illuminates your face but does not hit your eyes. It has colored faucets, red for hot and blue for cold, to keep you from getting confused. It has maids who dash into your room every time you leave, to straighten things up, and whisk away any chance dust specks.

Barcelona can show you the spot where Christopher Columbus stepped off the first boat from the new world, to report to the queen. It also can show you store windows with phonograph records featuring such quaint Spanish numbers as "Rock Around the Clock" and such old Spanish music masters as Wingy Manone and Lionel Hampton. I like it.

Storm Brewing at District School

There's a real storm brewing at a district school where a disgruntled faction has threatened to expose an alleged violation of PIAA rules which would affect a whole flock of athletes . . . Apparently, the move is designed to embarrass incumbent school officials . . . Incidentally there does appear to be a possible violation, although the rule in question has never been enforced. As a matter of fact, a poll of several district principals, as well as a top WPIAL official, revealed that they didn't even know the rule existed . . . The school, in question, might be wise to bring the matter to a head, voluntarily, by asking for a quick decision.

* * *

Speaking of screwy situations, have you heard about the new policy at a nearby school which vacates all varsity coaching positions at the end of each year. The jobs are opened for applicants within the school system and coaches must reapply if they want to hang on to their duties. More about this situation later . . . Don Lynn, much touted football center at Connellsville High the past season, has accepted a scholarship to Duke University . . . Monongahela High's fine soccer team is an odds-on bet to repeat as WPIAL champions. Coach Frank Lignelli's kickers haven't been so much as scared this season.

Donora Coach Plugs District Boys

John (Moon) Clark, Donora High's literate line coach, sat in on last week's intra-squad game at Pitt and decided that his former student Don Crafton was the best lineman on the field. Clark also considered Charleroi's Jim Lenhart the best quarterback, even though newspaper reports failed to speak glowingly of either boy. The Donora coach was particularly irked by the report that Crafton is too slow as a guard. "That isn't so," shot back Clark. "He is terrifically fast within a 10 or 15 yard range and that's a guard's fighting zone. He doesn't range beyond that area. A fellow doesn't have to be a 10 second man to hit a guy crouched three feet away." . . . Like Clark, we figure the Panthers are missing a real bet in both Crafton and Lenhart. Give them a chance and they'll produce.

* * *

Jeannette football coach A. Markley Barnes, who also directs the Jayhawk trackers, is still campaigning to have the javelin throw removed from high school meets. Barnes contends that the risk of injury is too great in the event . . . From the New Kensington Dispatch comes the opinion that the Ken High footballers were denied entry into the Foothills Conference because they're "too tough." . . . The twice-weekly sportsmen's column now appearing on these pages has seemingly met with a fine response. If you have any suggestions, pass them along.

Mdget League Drive Opens Monday

Monessen's Midget Football League will open a fund-raising campaign next Monday to finance construction of concession stands at Memorial Stadium. League officials hope this will be the last public appeal for money. In the future, they feel that concession revenues will support the costly — but worthy — program . . . Workmen are now busy at Memorial Civic Center erecting the special ring for the annual Marble Tournament. Interested boys between the ages of 9 and 15 should register now with their home-room teachers . . . Incidentally last year's Monessen marble king — Eugene Ninchak, of Holy Name School — eventually finished second in the state tournament.

'Moore will fight for the title on the day he's signed to fight for it or we'll take the title away from him, that's all," Stevens said

Moore, who is as handy or handier with words than he is with his aging arms said in Essen, Germany, that he is demanding a $100,000 guarantee to meet Anthony He added that he hasn't signed to fight the handsome Harlemite

But a contract was exhibited to newsmen in Detroit March 25 which Moore—on hand—had purportedly signed to meet the winner of the Anthony-Chuck Spieser fight June 7 at Detroit Olympia

'We've been very patient with him,' Stevens said "As far as we're concerned he signed a binding contract"

Anglers Warned of 'Posted' Streams

HARRISBURG (UP) — A state Fish Commission official said today the fact that a stream is classed as navigable does not protect a fisherman from arrest and prosecution if he does his fishing on posted property.

C. Robert Glover, chief of the commission's Conservation - Education division, said the property owner can even have an angler doing his fishing from a boat arrested if he owns the land on both sides of the stream.

"If the owner wants to have him arrested, he can—if he can get him," Glover said.

It makes no difference if the stream is navigable in Pennsylvania — posted property means "keep off," Glover said In some other states if the stream is navigable, posting is not permitted

Owner Has Control

But Pennsylvania common law is based on the English Magna Carta and means the owner has full control of a stream traversing his property."

The question was prompted by the arrest of about 30 fishermen in Lawrence County in the opening days of the fish season The sportsmen were arrested for trespassing on posted property.

A fish warden does not have the power to make arrests for trespassing, Glover said The owner must make his charges to an alderman or justice of the peace who directs a constable to make the arrest.

Monessen Little League managers were advised today to pick up their practice equipment next Monday between 1 and 5 p. m. at Memorial Civic Center.

A Recreation Department spokesman said the equipment, which has been stored in the Civic Center, will be distributed at that time.

Practice for Little League hopefuls will begin in a few days.

Mims Favored To Beat Beecham

MIAMI BEACH, Fla (UP) — Horn Mims an old middleweight "spoiler" rated an 8-5 favorite today to whip Jimmy Beecham, a hometown boy with his eye on the welterweight crown in a return 10-round television bout tonight at the Miami Beach Auditorium.

Mims' weight advantage and experience was expected to make the difference in the 10 p.m. est bout over a national television hookup (NBC) The fight will be used to promote the annual Easter Seal campaign.

But Beecham from Miami, figured the weight he gained since his last fight with Mims here Nov. 13 which he lost, will help his speed He wants to avenge the loss to the Washington, D.C. slugger, then may quit the middleweight division and concentrate in the welterweight ranks.

Browns and Packers in Big Deal

By BILL LOFTUS

CLEVELAND (UP) — Coach Paul Brown of the rebuilding Cleveland Browns today tagged quarterback Bobby Garrett the key man in the eight-player deal between Cleveland and the Green Bay Packers Thursday.

The Browns gave up quarterback Vito (Babe) Parilli and five others to obtain Garrett and linebacker Roger Zatkoff from the Packers. The other Cleveland players were defensive halfbacks John Petitbon and Billy Kinard, offensive guard John Macerelli, defensive end Carlton Massey and linebacker Sam Palumbo.

Brown indicated that he was counting heavily on Garrett to solve the Cleveland quarterback problem that has existed since the retirement of Otto Graham after the 1955 season and was a major factor in the Browns' loss of their Eastern Division NFL crown.

Key Figure

Brown said, "Garrett is the key figure in the deal for us, due to our wide-open quarterback post We always did wonder what we could do with Garrett and now we have the chance to find out.

"The trade is a break for Garrett," Brown pointed out. "He is a smart young man and has a strong arm. Playing with us gives him the chance of being a first string quarterback"

Brown said he was disappointed in the performance of Parilli last season He said, "We gave Parilli a good test last year and were disappointed. The Packers believe he will have a better chance with them of regaining the form he showed in his first two years as a pro."

Reverse Swap

The deal reversed a 1954 swap in which Brown sent Garrett, a former Stanford passing star to the Packers for Parilli Garrett served as understudy to Tobin Rote during the 1954 campaign before entering the Air Force He will be discharged before the 1957 training period begins

The Browns originally picked Garrett as their "bonus choice" in the 1954 player draft, but then immediately dealt him away to Green Bay

Today's trade was made possible when Rote, one of the best quarterbacks in the league, shelved retirement plans and signed last Wednesday in Houston, Tex for his eighth season with the Packers.

Advance in Mill League Playoffs

General Electric and Airco will meet next week for the No 3 Maintenance League bowling title

They advanced last night in a four team rolloff which was based on total pins.

General Electric spilled 2,543 pins while Airco knocked down 2,484 Other results found Oxweld with a 2,482 total (just two pins shy of Airco) and Lincoln Jets with 2,411.

Top scorers were Ralph Nicksich, 163-445; Pete Cipriani, 197-513, Adolph Jannotta, 150-421, and Joe Shephard, 143-422.

School Nines Are Idle Today

Valley Baseballers Pause in Observance of Good Friday

Scholastic baseballers paused today in observance of Good Friday.

The Section 17 front will be quiet, probably until next Monday.

All of yesterday's games were washed out. There's a possibility that some of the valley teams will try to play tomorrow

Monday's regular schedule will send Monessen to California and Monongahela to Charleroi. On Tuesday, Donora will visit Bellmar.

When the Monessen High Greyhounds resume activity, Coach John Hayduk plans a few lineup changes.

Two Beatings

Hayduk's youngsters have taken 11-4 lickings in their last two outings against Bellmar and Donora. The MHS pilot obviously feels it's time for some changes

Carl Crawley, the team's top slugger, will be moved from third back to the outfield That will give Jim Barker a chance to take over at the hot-corner, thus giving the Hounds another pretty good stick-er.

Also getting his chance will be Al Bost, who will move onto first base

Hayduk made it plain that he plans to juggle his lineup throughout the season in an effort to come up with a winning combination.

Experimental Season

It's no secret that Hayduk considers this an "experimental" season His club is loaded with underclassmen and he wants to give them all a chance to play

No one expected the Hounds to finish any higher than last in the pre-season estimates, so Hayduk has nothing to lose by his experiments.

Tebbets Charges Burdette with 'Spitter' Again

MILWAUKEE (UP) — Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Cincinnati Redlegs says Milwaukee Braves' pitcher Lew Burdette is "a cheating spitballer" and today wanted the National League to clarify the rules.

An angried Tebbetts said he sent a request for interpretation to league President Warren Giles "to settle once and for all" what constitutes spitball pitching "so everybody will know"

Tebbetts said Thursday after Burdette had won his sixth straight over the Redlegs in two seasons that "I'm tired of him getting away with murder" The manager charged that Burdette has been throwing spitballs for three years

The Redlegs field chief said Burdette constantly put his hands to his mouth, then wiped them on his shirt or used the resin sack.

Okay by Umps

Tebbetts said umpires say it's all right if the pitcher wipes his hands on his shirt or picks up the resin sack after putting his hands to his mouth.

"But the rule book says you can't put your hand to your mouth and Burdette does it every pitch," Tebbetts fired out

Burdette, often accused of throwing a spitter answered by saying, "It's the best pitch I've got, but I don't use it"

When asked why he doesn't file a formal complaint against Burdette, Tebbetts said "That's a good question. I'm stumped. I can't prove it."

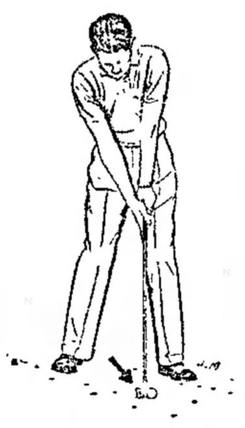
DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF



Get Maximum Loft

The technique of getting the added height to clear intervening obstacles call , fast, for positioning the ball about even with the right toe. Why? So that the ball is at the point where the downswing ends and the upswing starts. You want to catch the ball at the very end of the downswing to utilize the maximum loft of the clubface.

One danger in placing the ball so far forward is that the hands may roll over before the clubhead meets the ball. This could close the clubface, cut down on the loft, and induce a hook. To counteract this tendency, open the clubface at address (as picture shows). Then try to finish the swing with the back of the left hand up. This type of finish guarantees that the hands do not roll over.

If this technique is properly employed, you will be able to get surprising height on a shot — and get it quick. Using it with a pitching wedge, the ball will seem to go straight up.

The temptation to be avoided here is trying to give the ball "lift" with the hands. Trust the club loft to give you all the height you need.

Lady Golfers Tee Off Today In Lawton, Okla.

LAWTON, Okla. (UP)—Twenty-one of the nation's top play-for-pay lady golfers tee off today in the first round of the 54-hole $5,000 Lawton Open golf tournament with umbrellas and rain jackets in expectation of showers.

The weather bureau earlier forecast thundershowers for the area.

Betty Dodd who captured the first Lawton Open last year with an amazing finish, was favored to repeat here again this year.

Joining Miss Dodd in the first 18-hole round were Wilfa Smith, who posted the first big money in the $7,500 Dallas Open last week end, Marlene Bauer Hagge, one of the top money winners this year, and Jackie Pung, the shotmaker from Hawaii, who turned pro several years ago after winning the U.S. Amateur title.

Also teeing off today were other such top flight performers as Patty Berg, Betty Jameson and Alice Bauer. Not joining their sister travelers' here were Louis Suggs and Betsy Rawls.

A number of the top amateurs were also in the lineup including veteran Polly Riley and Clifford Ann Creed.

A $500 tournament of event preceded today's opening round. The tournament concludes Sunday.

Weather Holds up Ozarks, USW Drills

The managers of Monessen's two entries in the Mon Valley League aren't kidding when they insist "we don't know what we'll have this season."

So far, the weather has conspired to wash out every practice drill of the Monessen USW nine. The Monessen Ozarks have managed to drill once.

USW boss Ralph Nicksich has scheduled workouts for tonight and tomorrow at Ninth Street Park.

Tonight's practice will begin following the Charleroi-Monessen scholastic game, providing it is played.

"We are sure of only two players at the moment," reported Nicksich. "Bob Mastracci and Harpo Selcylo have indicated that they'll play for us."

May Try Out

Nicksich has invited anyone interested to try out for the team.

The Ozarks, directed by energetic Tony Mascetta, may have also hoisted the "help-wanted" sign. As usual, Mascetta is trying to fashion a young and spirited club.

Mascetta has called a workout for tomorrow at 4.30 p. m. in Ninth Street.

The Ozarks have worked in one team drill and Mascetta was pleased by what he saw. As yet, Tony hasn't released the names of any of his prospective players.

Season Delayed

Fortunately for both Monessen teams, the 1957 Mon Valley League season will not begin until sometime in May. That will give the city nine more times to prime for the campaign.

As usual, the Ozarks and USW will have to juggle their practice dates at Ninth Street. The schedule at the park will be even busier when the PONY Leaguers begin their practices on April 27.

Furgol, Palmer Tied After First Round Action

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP) — A pair of "opposites" in the world of golf teed off in the second round of the $40,000 Tournament of Champions today holding a one-stroke lead over a closely-pitched field of 23.

Battling for the $10,000 first prize were Ed Furgol, the lame-armed swinger from St. Andrews, Ill., who missed eight putts of less than four feet Thursday and still came in with an even-par 72; and the picture - swinger, young Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa.

The weather was so bad Thursday that their 72s were regarded as classics in the world of championship golf. But for all their efforts they held only a one-stroke lead over defending champion Gene Littler, former champion Art Wall, the Texas wind player, Fred Hawkins, and the ancient Jimmy Demaret, who never has been known to post a poor score in rugged weather.

The weather forecast for today was for calm and sunny. That would be a vast difference from Thursday. The gales blew sand across the desert at 30 miles an hour and the north wind brought in cold, chilling rains later.

Close on the heels of the leaders came Masters champion Doug Ford and the veteran Pete Cooper with 74s. Dow Finsterwald, Billy Casper and National Open champion Cary Middlecoff, the 3-1 tournament favorite, each had 75. At 76 were Mike Souchak, Billy Maxwell, Peter Thomson and Mike Fetchick. Don January and Dick Mayer had 78; Ted Kroll and Bobby Rosburg 79, E. J. (Dutch) Harrison 80 and Bo Wininger and Doug Sanders 81.

Mountie Athletes In Busy Weekend

Eighteen separate events are scheduled for West Virginia University sports teams on southern trips during the week-long Easter vacation ending next Wednesday.

The undefeated baseball team (5-0) starts into action Friday and Saturday at Virginia Tech, then plans at Davidson on Monday, VMI on Tuesday and West Virginia Wesleyan on Wednesday.

The golfers (1-1) visit George Washington, Richmond and William & Mary this Wednesday through Friday, a day in advance of the tennis squad (1-0). Both teams play at Davidson on Monday and Furman on Tuesday, with the tennists stopping off at White Sulphur Springs next Wednesday to play VMI. The trackmen (1-0) meet Davidson Saturday and Furman on Tuesday.

A surprise so far has been the perfect showing of the Mountaineer baseball team in five games. Though only two field regulars returned and four top pitchers were gone from 1956, Coach Steve Harrick welded together a versatile group of youngsters who now threaten for the championship of the tough Southern Conference.

The almost completely new pitching staff has been outstanding, allowing only 1.4 earned runs per game. Tom Cook holds two victories, Rod Shafer and Bucky Bolyard each a shutout and Paul Davis a victory in relief. Leading batsmen are center fielder Bob Senay at .444, second baseman Nick Zegrea .389 and shortstop Ronnie Retton .353. Solid hitting has come all through the order.

NBA Cagers Manage to Win Rule Concession

ST. LOUIS (UP) — Players of the National Basketball Association succeeded at a two-day league meeting here to put a grievance ruling on the books.

Club owners met with three player representatives at a final session late Thursday to reach agreement on grievance procedure.

It was agreed that a player, in dispute with his owner on a matter not covered by his contract, may appeal to the league president for a ruling. If the president's ruling is unacceptable to the player, the player then may appeal further to a board of three "governors" to be made up of club owners of his own selection. The decision of two members of the board of governors will be final.

St. Louis was awarded the 1958 annual East-West All-Star Game, to be played next Jan. 21.

The association also voted to continue the dates of the present 72-game season—Oct. 22 to March 12.

Richmond Takes Early Loop Lead

By UNITED PRESS

The Richmond Virginians, a second division club last year, stand alone at the top of the International League standings today.

Tom Carroll's homer in the 10th inning provided Richmond with its second straight victory over Rochester, 4-3. In the only other game played, the Buffalo Bisons opened their season with a 4-0 win at Columbus.

Carl Post, pitching in relief, was credited with the win for Richmond while Mel Wright picked up the loss for the visitors. Gordon Windhorn also homered for the Virginians.

Maglie Is Still Too Tough for Bues; Wins 6-1

BROOKLYN, N.Y. (UP)— The Pittsburgh Pirates could assure one and all today that Sal Maglie at 39 is still a pitcher to respect.

Maglie pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 6-1 victory over the Pirates Thursday. He gave up four hits and only lost a shutout because of two successive errors by Don Zimmer, filling in at shortstop for ailing PeeWee Reese.

Maglie was supported by a 14-hit attack that included home runs by Gil Hodges and Duke Snider.

Southpaw Luis Arroyo started for the Pirates and fared as badly as lefties usually do against the Brooks. He was charged with the loss after giving up two runs on four hits in the four innings he worked.

Hodges connected off Arroyo in the fourth for his second homer of the campaign. Rookie pitcher Chuck Churn was the victim of Snider's homer in the seventh which came with Junior Gilliam on base.

Bob Purkey and Nellie King also saw action on the mound for the Bucs.

Maglie, who did not register his first victory with the Dodgers last season until June 4, struck out five and walked three.

Pitchers Steal Major League Show by Picking on 'Cousins'

By FRED DOWN

It's like old times today for four pitchers who celebrated their first appearances of the new season by picking on favorite "cousins."

The No. 1 job, of course, was turned in by Lew Burdette who pitched the Milwaukee Braves to a 1-0 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs. It was the eighth straight win for Burdette over the Redlegs dating to 1955 and it gave him a 10-4 career record against them.

The Brooklyn Dodgers remained the only other unbeaten team in the National League when Sal Maglie tossed a four-hitter for a 6-1 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates. The 39-year-old Maglie now has a 23-5 lifetime mark against the Bucs.

A couple of American League jinxes enabled the New York Yankees and Chicago White Sox to chalk up their second consecutive victories.

The world champion Yankees scored two tainted runs in the ninth inning to down the Boston Red Sox, 3-2, with Bob Grim picking up the win in relief. Grim now has an 8-2 record against the Red Sox, who haven't beaten him since the 1955 season.

The White Sox drubbed the Kansas City Athletics, 6-2, behind a four-hit effort by Jack Harshman who's beaten the A's four times and never lost to them during his career in the A.L.

The Chicago Cubs walloped the St. Louis Cardinals, 10-2, and the New York Giants beat the Philadelphia Phils, 6-2, in the other N.L. games while the Cleveland Indians downed the Detroit Tigers, 8-3, in 11 innings and the Washington Senators beat the Baltimore Orioles, 6-4, in the other A.L. games.

Moe Drabowsky, the $60,000 bonus pitcher, stopped the Cardinals on four hits. Gene Baker, meanwhile, walloped three hits including a triple and double to pace the Cubs' 15-hit attack on five pitchers. Gail Harris and Hank Sauer each homered and knocked in three runs to lead the Giants to their victory behind a solid eight-hit job by Ruben Gomez. Sauer's homer was the 250th of his career.

Rookie Roger Maris' grand slam homer climaxed a five-run Cleveland rally in the 11th that returned Ray Narleski the winner over Detroit. Relief pitcher Pedro Ramos yielded only one unearned run over the last 6 1-3 innings to gain credit for the Senators' first victory of the year.

Musial Keeps Streak Going Despite Injury

ST. LOUIS (UP) — Stan Musial was able to play in his 776th consecutive game here Thursday night.

Musial strained his back in Tuesday's season opener against the Cincinnati Redlegs and it was feared that "The Man" would have to stop 48 games short of the record of consecutive games in the National League.

The rainout of Wednesday's game against the Redlegs gave Cardinal trainer Bob Bauman an extra day to administer treatment. Bauman gave the "go ahead" for Thursday night's game after he saw that Stan's back had improved.

Musial was at bat three times but failed to connect and fumbled a ball for an error. However, he kept his streak intact by playing the whole game which the Cards lost to the Chicago Cubs, 10-2.

Umpire Hit by Whiskey Bottle

DETROIT (UP) — Umpire Bill Summers, veteran American League arbiter, was hit on the leg by a whisky bottle tossed out minutes after the game between the Tigers and Indians had ended Thursday. He suffered a bruise on his right leg. The bottle - tosser was not apprehended.

Lawrence Welk Named to LL Directors' Board

Lawrence Welk, one of America's best liked and most popular personalities was among six new members elected to the Board of Directors of Little League Baseball during the second annual National Congress of Little League.

Welk was the choice of the board to complete the 15 seat membership, while the other five, representing various segments of the 4,000 league youth baseball program, were elected by delegates to the Congress from the field. They were; Henry F. Johnston of Long Beach, California; Raymond B. Stefano of Utica, New York; M. M. Galloway of Columbia, Texas; Alfred J. Stokely of Indianapolis, Indiana and Robert S. Gordon of Birmingham, Alabama. Stefano, an insurance executive and Gordon, an attorney, were elected to second terms.

In naming Welk to membership, the Board took cognizance of the esteem in which the son of a Strasburg, North Dakota farmer is held by the American public, as well as of his interests and convictions in the philosophy of Little League Baseball. Welk has long been an avid baseball fan and, as a dedicated father, he has devoted much of his busy life to the welfare of youth. He is a sponsor of a Little League team in his adopted home town of Brentwood, California.

Long Service

Johnston, Stefano, Galloway, Stokely and Gordon have long service background in Little League in their home communities and have been largely responsible for the phenominal growth of the program.

Manager of a printing company, Johnston was named by his fellow delegates to represent the West. He has been active in the program for six years and has served as league coach, manager and president, in addition to being a District Delegate.

Stokely is an industrial executive of a large cannery in Indianapolis and has helped pioneer Little League in the Mid-West. Like Johnston, he has six years in the program and has been a local league president.

Galloway is a banker in Columbia and in addition to his service to his local league, he has taken an active part in the development of new leagues throughout Texas. Stefano and Gordon were first elected to the Board during the 1956 Congress, when the policy of naming volunteer field personnel was inaugurated.

Kluszewski Has X-Ray Treatment

MILWAUKEE (UP) — Slugger Ted Kluszewski undergoes a second deep X-ray treatment today that may return him to the Cincinnati Redlegs' lineup over the week end.

The treatment is designed to dissolve a calcium deposit about the size of a pea in Kluszewski's left hip. The deposit has caused the big first baseman severe pain since early last season. He appeared as a pinch-hitter in Thursday's 1-0 loss to the Milwaukee Braves and hit into a double play.

NATO OFFICERS VISIT CANADA — Members of the military committee of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization are shown after they had inspected an experimental plane during their four-day tour of Canadian installations. Among the things the NATO officers saw were a new anti-tank weapon and the newest anti-personnel mine.

Today in Congress—

Members of Congress Begin Easter Recess

WASHINGTON (UP) — Most members of Congress headed today for a 10-day Easter recess at home to rest up before plunging into the second half of the 1957 congressional session.

The congressmen left behind a raft of legislative loose ends. Few major bills have been passed so far and most of the important legislation still is in committee.

The lawmakers, possibly sensitive to the country's sentiment for lower federal spending, showed little interest this Easter in junketing abroad to investigate activities in such places as Rome, Hawaii and Tokyo.

Major legislation approved by Congress so far include President Eisenhower's Middle East doctrine, extension of corporate and excise taxes and raising of the interest rate on U.S. savings bonds from 3 per cent to 3¼ per cent.

Major bills still awaiting action include foreign aid, civil rights, the budget, housing and school construction.

The congressmen's visits home will give them a chance to test at first-hand the budget - cutting sentiment in their districts. The issue has been the overriding one so far this session.

Other congressional news:

Budget: House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack (D-Mass.) said President Eisenhower is attempting to regain leadership of the GOP in Congress by proposing a $1,858,000,000 cut in the budget. McCormack said congressional Republicans have been following Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey and his economy policies more than they have been the President. He said: "They all like Ike, but they are voting against him."

Housing: House Republicans offered a compromise housing bill to permit lower down payments on FHA - insured homes. They countered a Democratic bill providing $2,900,000,000 for expanded housing with a bill authorizing the Federal National Mortgage Authority to increase its borrowing authority to $1,500,000,000.

Civil Defense: Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson asked Congress to give the federal government more authority in civil defense. Peterson, reporting on his agency's work for 1956, said it was "imperative" that the 1950 civil defense law be brought up to date to take into account the hydrogen bomb.

Leader Postpones Conference

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader has postponed his meeting with legislative leaders scheduled for April 24 until the following week.

The governor had asked the leaders of both parties to meet with him to discuss the administration program and what would be done with it before the Legislature's final adjournment.

Leader objected to the fact that the Republicans are planning to close the session by May 30, while the bulk of his program is in GOP controlled committees.

He said he invited Sen. M. Harvey Taylor (R-Dauphin), president pro tempore of the Senate, and Rep. W. Stuart Helm (R-Armstrong), speaker of the House, to meet with him April 23 to set a new date for the conference.

He said he postponed the meeting at the suggestion of Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom and Senate Majority Leader Sen. Rowland B. Mahany (R-Crawford).

Once Mighty Luftwaffe Has Only Six Trained Jet Fighter Pilots

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

BONN, Germany (UP) — The Luftwaffe, once a symbol of terror from the air, today boasts only six fully trained jet fighter pilots.

All are in their mid 30s and still fly only in formations with their U.S. Air Force instructors.

West German defense planners have always admitted that rebuilding an air force would be the slowest and toughest phase of rearmament.

It will be the slowest because for 10 years of Allied occupation Germans were banned from the air and this country has no pool of trained pilots. The survivors of the Luftwaffe's battle-hardened squadrons of World War II are men in their 30s who have not flown for more than a decade.

It will be the toughest due to the astronomical cost of building planes and air fields.

No Construction Plants

Germany has no aircraft construction plants and no modern jet air fields. The supersonic machines she orders from Canada, Britain, the United States and other Atlantic pact countries today may not be delivered before 1961.

By that time, according to Air Force Chief Lt. Gen. Josef Kammhuber, the Soviet Air Force is expected to have planes capable of flying one and a half times the speed of sound.

Kammhuber, 60, a point-sized, quiet - spoken former fighter pilot, wants planes and flying crews second to none in quality for the tactical force of 20 wings, and 3,200 planes planned for 1961.

He says the rate of build-up depends almost entirely on pilot training, which began only nine months ago. The six men now qualified to fly jets are scheduled to become squadron and wing commanders.

U.S.-Canadian Trained

Due to the lack of native German instructors, the burden and cost of training have fallen mainly on the United States and Canada.

The Luftwaffe should have 30 to 40 trained pilots by the end of this year when two pursuit squadrons and one transport squadron will be organized and flying.

The present strength is 236 planes, including 19 F84F fighter-bombers. The rest are light propeller - driven trainers, jet trainers and transports.

At present the Luftwaffe has only two bases of its own and shares four others with the United States. A $375 million program calls for 25 new NATO air bases in West Germany but work has not begun.

'Flying Parson' Holds Services in Valley

"The Flying Parson" is conducting evangelistic services in the Riverside Tabernacle at Sunnyside on Route 31 between Webster and Monongahela.

L. C. Robie, who will be conducting the services for at least three more weeks, acquired the novel nickname, "The Flying Parson" because of his unusual means of transportation.

It all started when he was 16 years old when he built a model plane that would fly under its own power for 1,000 feet or better. In 1929 he soloed and in 1931 got his first pilot's license. He learned to fly at Wilkes Barre.

Since learning to fly he has owned three planes. Each plane had these messages one on either side, "With a message higher than you can fly" and "Robie Gospel Ship, Jesus Saves."

He had only one accident in all his years of flying, that being in 1936 when he landed in a tree after taking off from a small field. He escaped with only minor injuries.

Since 1951, however, he has been traveling by auto, with his wife, Esther.

Born in Olean, N. Y., Evangelist Robie attended Cazenovia Prep School, Genesee Wesleyan Seminary at Lima, Practical Bible Training Institute and the Bible Institute of Los Angeles.

In 1925 he was ordained by the Methodist denomination at Trinity Methodist Church, Auburn, N. Y., and went to Alberta, Canada to begin his ministry.

He plays five instruments, among which are the accordion and trombone.

Evangelist Robie is conducting Bible salvation, healing meetings at the Tabernacle.

Ask Damages For Violation Of Coal Lease

A suit to recover $5,000 damage for the alleged violation of a coal stripping lease has been filed in the Washington County courts by C. A. Dally and his wife, Rose Dally, all of Long Branch.

The suit was filed against Harry Desimone, Thomas Rosenblatt and Raymond Biagini, partners, trading as the Bard Coal Co., Donora.

The complaint states that on May 5, 1956, the Dallys owned 31.56 acres in Long Branch, which they leased to the coal firm to mine and remove the Redstone vein.

The Dallys claim the coal firm committeed acts of waste on the property by allegedly violating certain terms of the lease.

It is stated that the coal firm stripped land within 500 feet of the house, barn and other buildings; allegedly dug roadways within 500 feet of the buildings and caused the Dallys' roadway to collapse; cut roadways through fields which made the fields allegedly useless, and in so doing spoiled crops.

Science Today —

Fluorine Being Used As Anti-Cancer Drug

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UP) — By adding fluorine to essential body nutrients, two teams of scientists have created a new class of cancer-slowing chemical compounds which now are being tested experimentally in human beings.

That these new compounds will slow and even stop and reverse the development of several experimental cancer types has been demonstrated in rats and mice. What they will do to the cancers which develop spontaneously in people is, at present, an unanswered question.

Binds Itself Readily

Fluoring is a gaseous, highly poisonous element. It binds itself readily in various molecules, particularly those containing hydrogen atoms.

In the new class of anti-cancer drugs, it has been bound into altered molecules of substances from which the chemical processes of the body produce the nucleic acids which are the indispensable wherewithal for propagating the ells, whether normal or cancerous.

There is evidence that at least some cancerous cells prefer it for the making of nucleic acid over available and possible substitutes.

With "5-fluoro-uracil" they had some remarkable success in prolonging survival times of rats and mice into whom had been transplanted both solid and liquifying experimental malignancies.

Free of Tumors

Indeed, two mice seemed entirely free of their tumors. At the end of 100 days they were killed and it was demonstrated conclusively that they were free of them in fact.

Some of these drugs now are in common use against leukemia. They will prolong life in some but not all victims of that fatal disease. Sooner or later the leukemic cells "learn" how to deal with the chemical "antagonists" to their metabolism.

And such, of course, may well be the fate of the new class, assuming that it gives the same promise in human beings that it has in rats and mice.

River Cranes to Right Barge

NEW ORLEANS (UP)— Two huge river cranes moved into position today to right a capsized oil barge and reveal the fate of nine missing sailors.

There was virtually no hope that the nine men were still alive. Some 30 relatives of the missing crewmembers maintained a night-long vigil at nearby Buras, La.

The two big cranes moved in on the capsized barge in the north of the Mississippi River, where the huge oil craft turned turtle in squally Gulf waters Wednesday as it was being towed into the sanctuary of the river.

There were 15 men aboard the barge, but six were rescued by tugs that were pulling the barge.

Want Election at Latrobe Plant

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The United Auto Workers (UAW) has petitioned the National Labor Relations Board for an election in an effort to win bargaining rights at the Latrobe, Pa. plant of Kennametal Inc. The NLRB said today it will conduct a hearing on the request April 9 in Pittsburgh.

The Latrobe plant's 95 production and maintenance workers are represented now by District 50 of the United Mine Workers.

Tax Plan For Small Businesses

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower will urge Congress soon to approve a tax plan which could start a flow of new capital to hard-pressed small businesses, it was learned today.

The aim is to take some of the risk out of small business ventures for wealthy investors.

Under the plan, anyone who invested in an established small business and did lose would be allowed to deduct his loss — or part of it — from his income tax return in a single year. This would save him literally thousands of dollars and make such investments much more attractive.

Small businessmen have complained they cannot get capital needed to help their firms growing in an expanding economy. Early last year the President created a cabinet committee on small business to study the problem.

Last August the cabinet committee reported it was "studying a proposal to help small concerns attract capital by allowing investors to deduct from their ordinary income a limited amount of losses, in the event that losses are sustained from investments in small businesses."

An administration official who has been working on the proposal told the United Press the plan has been worked out and put in the form of a bill. He said the President will submit it to Congress soon.

Lester is serving a prison term in New York for extortion, but Anderson said he had been advised by New York authorities the suspect could be brought here for arraignment.

The others involved in the case are Edward Lieberman, Lester's brother, and Irwin Milliner, who is reported to be in Canada.

Scouts to Get New Pool

Construction of a new swimming pool at Camp Conestoga operated by the Westmoreland-Fayette Council, Boy Scouts of America, was started this week when contractors moved in to install the 42 by 82 foot standard pool.

The pool is being installed by the American Bridge Division, U. S. Steel Corp. and is scheduled for completion early in June in time for use during the coming summer camping season.

This pool and other facilities at the camp are made possible through special capital development contributions made by 64 firms and individuals in the two-county area.

The marksmanship range has been approved and is expected to be under construction within the next two weeks. It will be located about midway between Camp Conestoga and Buck Run Area and will be within easy hiking distance of both camps.

Camp registrations are far ahead of last year at this time and Scout officials predict a capacity season. They urge troops not registered to send in their applications immediately.

Camping is probably the outstanding Scout activity made available to all boys through the support of Community Chests and individual subscriptions to the Westmoreland Fayette Boy Scout Council.

Junior High Student Has Poem Published

An Easter poem, written by 13-year-old Michele Giannini, has been published in a national magazine, it was announced today.

Miss Giannini, who is a ninth grade student at Monessen Junior High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Baldo Giannini, of Monessen.

She wrote the poem, which was published in the April issue of "The Catholic Miss", a national magazine distributed among Catholic young people, when a student at St. Leonard Parochial School.

The poem follows:

"Forgive Them, Father

The soldiers placed a crown of thorns
Upon His blessed head,
They spat on Him and laughed at Him,
But the only words He said
Were, "Forgive them, Father."

They tied Him to a pillar
And beat Him with harsh whips
But as the soldiers mocked Him
These words rested on His lips:
"Forgive them, Father."

They placed a cross upon His shoulder
And led Him to Calvary,
But through the pain and torture
He whispered tenderly,
"Forgive them, Father."

The soldiers nailed Him to a cross
And just before He died,
He raised His eyes to Heaven,
And with His last sweet breath
He cried,
"Forgive them, Father."

Make Study of Atomic Energy

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader announced today Pennsylvania State University will make a study to determine when atomic energy can be expected to be used as a supplement and partial replacement for coal, natural gas and oil.

Leader said the state Planning Board authorized the University's Mineral Economics Department to make a one-year study at an approximate cost of $15,000.

The governor pointed out that Pennsylvania was the site of one of the world's pioneering applications of atomic power to peacetime use at Shippingport, Beaver County, where the Duquesne Light Co. is completing the nation's first commercial atomic power plant.

He said the study would determine when the power of the atom would become economically competitive with energy derived from coal, natural gas and oil.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Maria Sarik, who died five years ago today, April 19, 1952.
Gone, dear mother, gone forever,
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left us to remember
None on earth can take your place.
A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still;
But death has left a loneliness,
The world can never fill.
Sadly missed by her Sons, Daughters and Grandchildren

In loving memory of our dear wife, mother and grandmother, was Catherine Praskavich, who died two years ago today, April 19, 1955.
The rolling stream of life rolls on,
And still the vacant chair
Recalls the love, the voice, the smile
Of the one who once sat there.
It is lonesome here without you,
And sad the weary way;
For life is not the same to us,
Since you were called away.
Sadly missed by Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Bosetti and Family

A Firm Return

CHICAGO (UP) — The Internal Revenue Service said today a Chicago firm has paid enough in 1956 income taxes to give every person in the United States $1 and still have nearly four million dollars left over. The firm, which the IRS refused to identify, paid a 174 million dollar income tax.

Big Shift in Top Diplomatic Representatives

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Eisenhower administration is changing almost half of the nation's top diplomatic representatives serving at 78 overseas posts.

A United Press survey disclosed today the big shift began soon after last November's election. Since then changes made or in the works cover nearly 40 foreign diplomatic assignments.

The diplomatic turnover has been so extensive that Congress is beginning to sit up and take notice. One of the chief congressional complaints is that the administration is favoring "political" appointees instead of career diplomats for top posts.

Investigation shows that 54 career diplomats are assigned or will be assigned as ambassadors or ministers representing the United States. This compares with 24 non-career people holding top diplomatic posts.

This figures out to 70 per cent of the diplomatic posts in the hands of career foreign service officers — the highest percentage held by career diplomats in American history.

The Masked Janitor

NEW YORK (UP)—A squadron of police with drawn guns, acting on a tip, swept down on a branch bank office Thursday night and seized a very surprised Sam Munez, who was complacently sweeping the floor. Munez, 40, explained to police that he always wears a bandanna tied around his face when he sweeps because he has hay fever and the dust irritates his nostrils.

Record Vehicles Are Registered

HARRISBURG (UP)—Revenue Secretary Gerald A. Gleeson said today the state has received 760,042 commercial vehicle registrations, the highest total in the 51 year history of the Motor Vehicles Bureau.

The applications were from owners of trucks, trailers, buses and taxicabs registered in Pennsylvania. The expiration date for current commercial tags is May 31.

Charles M. Dougherty, bureau director, said all 1957 commercial license plate shave six digits for the first time. He added that the 1957 registration, including both passenger and commercial vehicles, will total more than four million for the second straight year.

State Pardons Board, Leader Free Convict After Serving 10 Years

HARRISBURG (UP)—The doors of the Eastern State Penitentiary were to swing open today for a Philadelphia convict who served 10 years of a life sentence for a killing he "apparently" did not commit.

Gov. George M. Leader, acting upon unanimous recommendation of the state Pardons Board, granted a pardon Thursday night to William S. (Willie) Green, 45, a Navy veteran, who was convicted of killing William Blount, 55, a night watchman, at a South Philadelphia theater Nov. 4, 1946.

The governor cited the recommendation of the board after a hearing held at the suggestion of the state Supreme Court. The board said the evidence presented and the presentation, "both indicate there is more than reasonable doubt as to William S. Green's guilt...they both apparently establish his actual innocence."

"The case of William Green is dramatic evidence of the important, vital function of the Board of Pardons," the governor said. "If the Board of Pardons were not in existence this man would remain in prison without hope of release, even though the basic testimony on which he was convicted has been proved false."

The governor pointed out the Supreme Court turned down Green's bid last January for a new trial, on the ground its appellate function was "severely" limited by law even though the Philadelphia district attorney's office recommended a new trial.

Suggested Board Review

The court, the governor said, suggested "another door open to the appellant," through the Pardons Board and executive clemency. Green contended he was convicted on perjured testimony.

The governor then cited other phases of the recommendation of the Pardons Board, which read in part:

"Persistent efforts on his behalf by his (Green's) mother and several attorneys who have seriously doubted his guilt all these years have uncovered documented evidence which tends not only to cast doubt on his guilt but even to establish his actual innocence of the crime.

"This case is peculiarly one calling for action by the Board of Pardons. Here is presented a situation where our ordinary legal processes are impotent to rectify the wrong done to Green and to require his immediate release.

"William S. Grten has languished in jail for over 10 years. It is time that he be released."

Green insisted he was home in bed at the time of the murder.

Train Bows to Auto

TOLEDO, Ohio (UP) — Trainmen on a northbound train took one look at the southbound track early Thursday and flagged down an oncoming southbound train. The southbound train stopped just in time to prevent a head-on collision with Marion T. Watson's car. Watson, 59, was locked up on a drunk and disorderly charge.

Likes Being Shot

CHICAGO (UP) — First-grader Joey Gomolka Jr. liked his first Salk polio vaccine shot so much he sneaked back into the Mark Twain elementary school for a second one. Joey, 6, told astounded nurses that he "liked the feel of the cotton" on his arm. They said it won't hurt him.

Actress Says TV Is Just Too Commercial

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—June Havoc—she's the one in the family who "I think the trouble with TV is keeps her clothes on — has trou- that the commercialism of the ble keeping her shirt on when she medium has filtered down to considers television. everybody working in the busi-

Miss Havoc, the yummy blonde ness. All right, so it is commer- sister of stripper Gypsy Rose Lee, cial But at least the actor should enrolls next May 11 for duty in be spared that commercialism."

NBC-TV's "Mr. Broadway," a spectacular about George M. Cohan. She approaches the task, as she does most of her "live" TV jobs, with trepidation

William Ewald

"It's a privilege to work in show business—and that's something I feel very strongly about, almost to the point of violence," said Miss Havoc as she sipped some un-violent tea. "But most of the people working on TV sets lack any recognition of the romance in this business.

"I hate whisperers, backscratchers, fidgeters. And TV crews are full of them. There's too little respect for the actors working on the set. I'm pretty bitter about those mechanically minded people in TV who constantly walk and talk and move about without regard for what's going on. . ."

The trouble, believes Miss Havoc, lies in the attitude of most TV people toward their jobs

"The theatre is a blessed place" she said. "Ask anybody selling shoes or ribbons across a counter if they wouldn't like to be a part of this magic business. They'd jump at the chance. But so many people in TV don't care any more about their job than they would if

The lack of romance on TV shows very often in the end product, continued Miss Havoc. "It affects it terribly," she said. "How can you possibly expect the actor to do something true and beautiful when it's shot full of holes before it ever gets on? If everyone around you doesn't believe, how can you?

"Beauty hangs on a thin thread "It's just a puff of smoke, really And the thing that gets me is that if the show is a bomb, it's never the man holding the cable that gets blamed . . . it's the actors."

Air Force to Hold Production Of Big Bombers

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Air Force announced today that it will hold B52 heavy bomber production at the present rate of 15 a month instead of expanding to the 20-a-month goal given Congress last year.

The service said that the total number of the intercontinental H-bombers to be produced is not being changed but that production will be stretched out an extra six months.

The planned total production of eight-jet B52s is now 603. The stretchout will keep production going longer and thus make a "favorable" situation for the Air Force and the Boeing Air Plane Co. Seattle, if it is decided later to buy more of the aircraft.

The Air Force said the new production schedule will make it possible to obtain "a substantially greater proportion" of a new B52 model which is reported to have considerably increased fuel capacity and thus greater range than the models now in the strategic air command.

Band Just Didn't Understand Polish

BELGRADE (UP)— Bandleader Ray McKinley reported today the touring Glen Miller orchestra "got the biggest and warmest reception in Poland we've had anywhere in Europe—once we could translate the boos."

"We just didn't know what to do when the audience started to boo after our first number—until we found out that was Polish for 'more . . . more . . . more'," McKinley said.

Your Health—

Keep Child Amused While Convalescing

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

It's a great relief to learn that your ill youngster is on the road to recovery. But convalescence may take a long time.

Taking care of a convalescent child, especially if he is confined to bed, can be a real chore. Such a youngster, you can see, is easily upset, tired — and easily bored.

It's up to you to see that he gets enough rest when he needs it and to keep him occupied when he is not tired. Get your doctor's advice on just what your child can and can't do while recovering from an illness or injury.

Interests of a young convalescent change quickly. Of course, there's always television, radio and phonograph records to help pass the time. But he'll tire of these things eventually.

All kids like vacations. And if your child is at all interested in adventure, he'll probably get a kick out of looking through travel folders. You can get them easily from travel agents, railroads and most newspapers.

Let your child help with simple household tasks like finding places where clothing needs to be mended and chopping nuts or shredding vegetables.

The best time for you to do your own housework is in the morning. Not only do you feel more like working during these hours, but your bedridden youngster is fresh enough to amuse himself for quite a while without your help.

Be pleasant but firm when it is time for him to eat or to nap.

Bedtime in the evening might be made more pleasant if it includes a warm bath and maybe a gentle rubdown.

The youngster probably will find it more relaxing and more pleasant if Daddy takes over for these final chores of the day. I think mother will enjoy the few moments' rest, too.

Woman's Club to Hold Tea for Senior Class Girls

The Woman's Club of Fellsburg held its regular meeting at Sweeney's Restaurant Wednesday evening.

Mrs. James Phythyon, president, opened the meeting and presented Mrs. William Hass, who read the club collect. The members then gave the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Police Kill Three in Chicago Gun Battle

CHICAGO (UP) — Police shot and killed three burglars in a blazing gun battle today when they surprised the bandits trying to crack a safe containing more than $250,000 in a Loop department store.

A seven man detective detail hid in the dark 11th floor office of Mandel Bros. department store for more than seven hours before the burglars appeared. Authorities said they received a tip on the burglary from an undisclosed source.

The three wheeled their equipment, including acetylene torches and suitcases containing burglary tools, into a small inner office containing a large safe.

Patrick Decley, chief of detectives, said at that point he ordered the burglars to come out with their hands up. Instead, he said, they backed out of the inner office shooting and were sprayed with bullets from police machine guns.

Dead were James Rentner, 30, Chicago, a former suburban Maywood Park policeman; James L. Wulf, 28, suburban Glenview, and James Bartimio, 30, suburban Melrose Park.

Wulf carried a small transistor radio tuned to the police band, and it continued blaring from the dead man's pocket in the eerie stillness after the shooting.

Reason Why It Is Called Good Friday

WASHINGTON (UP) — Why do Christians apply the name "good" Friday to the day on which Christ was crucified?

A church historian explained today that the custom began in the Middle Ages as an attempt to offset a "morbid" atmosphere which had pervaded the popular observance of the day.

"By calling it 'Good Friday,'" he explained, "the church emphasized the great good for all mankind which Christ accomplished when He willingly died for our sins."

A Boy and His Dog

FAIRFIELD, Iowa (UP)—Nearly the whole town turned out to stage an all night search for 7-year-old Danny Ruby. They couldn't find him. Things were getting really frantic Thursday when Danny walked casually into his home, his dog following along. He said he had just been out for a walk.

'Passengers' Vanish

HASBROUCK HEIGHTS, N.J. (UP) — Carmen Tassarelli complained to police Thursday that someone stole two goats from his car.
